GETTING A PROTECTION ORDER

Under the Alabama Protection from Abuse Act, you may get:

1. An order restraining the abuser from abusing you or your children.
2. An order evicting the abuser from your home and giving you possession of the residence.
3. An order preventing the abuser from entering your home, school, business, or place of employment.
4. An order awarding you temporary custody of your children and establishing reasonable visitation rights.
5. An order directing the abuser to pay support to you for the minor children if the abuser has a legal obligation to do so.

Forms can be obtained at the Circuit Clerk's office in each county. Remember that an order issued under this act is temporary and cannot last longer than one year. To be effective, it must be served on the abuser. If the abuser violated the order, he/she can be punished for civil contempt or criminal contempt of court which may result in a fine or jail.
